ACACIA TECHNOLOGIES ADDS TO PATENT ACQUISITION TEAM

Newport Beach, Calif. – (BUSINESS WIRE) February 3, 2004 – Acacia Research Corporation (Nasdaq: ACTG; CBMX) announced today that Jennifer Hart has joined its Acacia Technologies group as Vice President, Business Development. Ms. Hart's primary focus will be the acquisition of out-licensing rights to additional patented technologies via alliances with the owners of the technologies.

Ms. Hart was most recently at Rockwell Technologies, where she reported to the President of the Intellectual Property Management Group, and was involved with the commercialization of Rockwell's patent portfolio consisting of emerging technologies in electronics, imaging, displays, advanced materials, sensors, micro-optics, nanotechnologies, MEMS, software, and avionics. Ms. Hart holds a B.A. degree from Wellesley College, and a J.D. degree from New York University School of Law.

ABOUT ACACIA RESEARCH CORPORATION

Acacia Research Corporation comprises two operating groups, Acacia Technologies group and CombiMatrix group.

The Acacia Technologies group develops, acquires, and licenses patented technologies. Acacia's DMT technology, which is supported by 5 U.S. and 31 foreign patents, relates to audio and audio/video transmission and receiving systems, commonly known as audio-on-demand, video-on-demand, and audio/video streaming, and is used for distributing digital content via several means including Internet, cable, satellite and wireless systems.

The CombiMatrix group is developing a platform technology to rapidly produce customizable active biochips, which are semiconductor-based tools for use in identifying and determining the roles of genes, gene mutations and proteins. CombiMatrix's technology has a wide range of applications including DNA synthesis/diagnostics, drug discovery, and immunochemical detection. CombiMatrix's Express Tracksm drug discovery program is a systems biology approach, using its technology, to target common viral diseases with siRNA compounds.

Acacia Research-Acacia Technologies (Nasdaq: ACTG) and Acacia Research-CombiMatrix (Nasdaq:CBMX) are both classes of common stock issued by Acacia Research Corporation and are intended to reflect the performance of the respective operating groups and are not issued by the operating groups.

Information about the Acacia Technologies group and the CombiMatrix group is available at www.acaciaresearch.com.
